

Biological Resources Management Project Extension Lecture Series

On December 14, 21 and January 11, NUGELP hosted its 3-day extension lecture series on Biological Resources Management Project with an intension of getting closer eyes on the actual practice in the field. We have invited several lecturers from JICA and development consultant companies, who gave extensive lectures using their case studies of projects on biological resources management, as well as their knowledge and field experiences. Participants enjoyed listening to stories that they would not be able to experience in classrooms from these lecturers.
