

The U.S. Leadership Training

From July 15 for 8 days, 12 NUGELP students visited the United States for their Leadership Training. They visited the World Bank in Washington DC, the United Nations Headquarters in New York, and Massachusetts Institute of Technology (MIT) and Harvard University in Boston to meet international leaders. In Washington DC, students enjoyed a working dinner with Japanese business persons and Japanese officers from international organizations there. Students seemed to be very excited and inspired through networking with many international leaders they do not usually get to see.
